1. Estimated Breeding Values

Many factors influence the appearance and performance of a bull, so selecting 'by eye' alone can be misleading. The only accurate way of assessing the genetic potential of an animal (i.e. what it can pass on to its calves) is by using Estimated Breeding Values (EBV's) and Indexes. These are produced by Signet using a system known as BLUP (Best Linear Unbiased Predictor) and are calculated from animals' individual performance records as well as those of all their known relatives, where the effects of the environment (feeding, management, disease, climate etc) are sifted out to leave an estimate of the genetic value for each trait, as follows…

EBV	What Does the EBV Indicate?	Look for…
Birth Weight (kg)	Genetic potential for calf weight at birth	High negative EBVs if you want low calf birth weights
Calving Ease (%)	Ease with which a bull's progeny will be born	High positive EBVs if you want less assisted calvings
Maternal Calving Ease (%)	Ease with which a bull's daughters will calve	High positive EBVs if you want less assisted calvings
Gestation Length (days)	Genetic potential for gestation length	High negative EBVs if you want short gestation lengths
200 Day Milk (kg)	The maternal component of 200 day growth (i.e. the contribution that the milking and maternal abilities of a bull's daughters make towards their calves' growth at 200 days of age)	High positive EBVs if you want daughters to wean heavier calves
200 Day Weight (kg)	Genetic potential for growth from birth to 200 days of age	High positive EBVs if you want high growth rates to weaning
400 Day Weight (kg)	Genetic potential for growth from birth to 400 days of age	High positive EBVs if you want high growth rates to finishing
Muscle Depth (mm)	Genetic potential for muscularity and potential to increase lean meat yield	High positive EBVs if you want good calf conformation
Fat Depth (mm)	Genetic potential for leaner carcases	High negative EBVs if you want to produce leaner carcases or take calves to heavier weights without penalty for fatness
Age at 1st Calving (%)	Genetic potential for early sexual maturity	High negative EBVs for a greater proportion of heifers that hold to 1st service

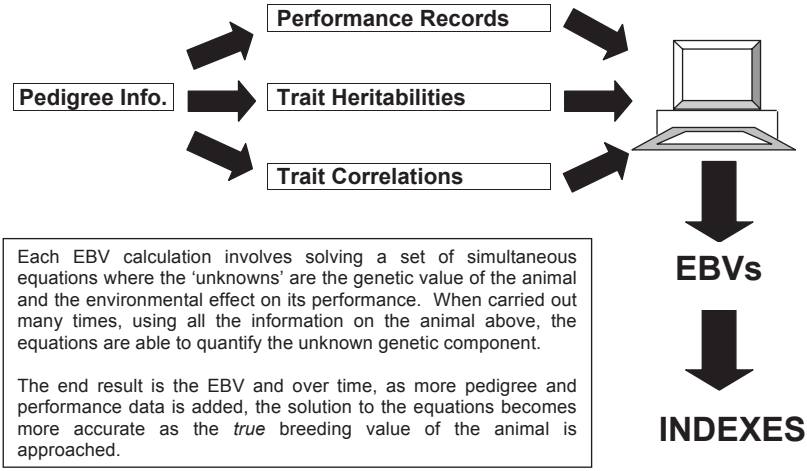
Longevity (years)	Genetic potential for long life in the breeding herd	High positive values for animals likely to remain in the herd for longer
Calving Interval (days)	Genetic potential for the time taken to get back in calf	High negative values to breed cows that get back in calf quickly
Docility (%)	Genetic potential for being calm when handled	High positive values for animals that are likely to be more calm when handled
Scrotal Circumference (cm)	Genetic potential for scrotal size. Linked to male serving capacity and puberty of daughters.	High positive values for animals with higher likely serving capacity and earlier maturing daughters.

2. HOW ARE EBVs CALCULATED?

EBVs are calculated using information from several sources:

- Measurements from the animal itself
- Measurements from the animal's herd mates (known as 'contemporaries' *)
- Measurements from the animal's relatives and their contemporaries
- The degree to which one trait influences another (known as a 'correlation' *)
- The degree to which each trait is passed on to the next generation (known as 'heritability' *)

* Terms explained below



Each EBV calculation involves solving a set of simultaneous equations where the 'unknowns' are the genetic value of the animal and the environmental effect on its performance. When carried out many times, using all the information on the animal above, the equations are able to quantify the unknown genetic component.

The end result is the EBV and over time, as more pedigree and performance data is added, the solution to the equations becomes more accurate as the true breeding value of the animal is approached.

Heritability and Correlations

Heritability
This is a term used to describe the strength with which traits are inherited and it varies depending on the trait in question. Generally:

- Traits associated with reproduction and survival have low heritabilities
- Milk production and early body size have medium heritabilities

- Later growth and carcase traits (i.e. fat and muscle) have relatively high heritabilities

Where traits with relatively good heritability are concerned, when something is known of the performance of one or both parents, then a prediction can be made as to how the offspring will perform and BLUP uses this 'knowledge' to enhance the accuracy of its EBV calculations.

Correlations
This term describes the direction and strength of the association between two traits. For example, some traits are highly positively correlated, such as 200-Day Growth and 400-Day Growth, whilst others are highly negatively correlated, such as 400-Day Growth and Calving Ease. When something is known of one trait but perhaps not another, a prediction can be made based on what is known about the correlation between them. This again enhances the accuracy of the EBV in question and helps deal with situations where records for a trait are limited or unavailable.

3. BREEDING INDEXES

It is often desirable to select animals on the basis of more than one EBV. Indexes focus on specific breeding goals and combine the appropriate EBVs in to a single figure based on their relative economic value. This is widely regarded as the most efficient method of selecting on a number of traits at once.

Signet currently produces three beef Indexes, as follows:

Index	Contributing EBVs
BEEF VALUE	Birth Weight EBV 200 Day Weight EBV 400 Day Weight EBV Muscle Depth EBV Fat Depth EBV

Index	Contributing EBVs
CALVING VALUE	Gestation Length EBV Calving Ease EBV

Index	Contributing EBVs
MATERNAL VALUE	200 Day Milk EBV Longevity EBV* Age First Calving EBV* Calving Interval EBV* Maternal Calving Ease

* New EBVs not yet published at breed sales

When using an Index it is important that your breeding objective is broadly similar to that of the Index in question, otherwise you may unwittingly change aspects of your herd that you did not necessarily want to.

4. ACCURACY

An Accuracy Value is published next to every EBV and Index. Accuracy Values are expressed as a % and indicates the quantity and quality of records used to produce the EBV or Index.

Several things affect the accuracy of an EBV or Index, namely:
- The amount of information on the trait from the animal itself
- The amount of information on the trait from relatives of the animal

- The heritability of the trait concerned
- The amount of information from the animal and its relatives on traits correlated with the trait of interest and the strength of the correlations which vary between different traits.
- The number of herd mates from the same management group recorded ('contemporaries').

Scaling for Low Accuracy
An important feature of BLUP EBVs is that they are scaled to account for the amount of performance information on which they are based. EBVs based on very little information get adjusted towards the average EBV and this adjustment applies to both high and low EBVs.

This prevents animals gaining very high or very low EBVs as a result of a few very good or very poor records and is designed to protect the user from risk. The more information available on an animal and its relatives, the less the EBVs are adjusted.

Accuracy Values indicate how similar an animals' EBVs are to its true breeding value. They predict the likelihood that an animals EBVs will change over time

5. EBV INDEXES

To aid interpretation at breed sales, all Limousin EBVs are presented in index form based around an average of 100 with an approximate range of 70 to 130. For example:

	Calving Value	200 Day Milk (kg)	200 Day weight (kg)	400 Day weight (kg)	Muscle Depth (mm)	Fat Depth (mm)	Beef Value
EBV	LM –4C	-1	+25	+34	+3.40	-0.20	LM +23
Accuracy %	85	54	75	73	68	66	73
Index	77	98	112	106	111	111	108

6. MATERNAL EBVs

Many commercial and pedigree producers are breeding their own female replacements and need to identify bulls with superior maternal attributes.

200 Day Milk EBV
One of the most important maternal EBVs is the 200 Day Milk EBV – indicating the degree to which 200 day milk is influences by maternal performance – e.g. milkiness and general mothering ability.

As well as predicting breeding potential for growth to 200 day of age, the 200 day weight can be used to assess an animals breeding potential for milking ability.

Consider the performance of the grand-offspring of a bull. The weights of all of his grandprogeny are influenced by his growth genes, but only those produced by his daughters are affected by his genes for milk.

If the grandprogeny produced by his daughters are constantly heavier than those produced by his sons, then this is likely to be due to his superior genes for milk production.

Interpretation
A bull with an EBV of +4 for 200-Day Milk is expected to produce heifer calves which will have above average maternal characteristics leading to their calves being 2kg heavier at 200-days than calves from heifers sired by a bull with an EBV of 0.

Maternal Calving Ease
This EBV predicts how easily a bull's daughters will calve. It should not be confused with the Calving Ease EBV which predicts how easily a bull's progeny will be born.

The Maternal Calving Ease EBV is calculated from calving records and is expressed as a % indicating the proportion of unassisted calvings.

> Interpretation
> A bull with a Maternal Calving Ease EBV of 2% will produce females that have 1% more unassisted calvings than a bull with an EBV of 0.

EBVs are also produced for: Longevity, Age at First Calving and Calving Interval but these are not yet published at breed sales.

7. How to Use EBVs and Indexes

EBVs are expressed in the same unit as the recorded trait (e.g. kg for 400-Day Weight, mm for Muscle Depth etc) and are relative to a Breed Benchmark, which is updated and published annually.

Limousin Breed Benchmark 2013

When using EBVs it is important to remember that although they can be compared between herds, they can not be compared between breeds.

Using the Breed Benchmark, compare and contrast the EBVs and Indexes of the two young bulls below.

Bull A

Analysis Date 24/10/2008	Calving Value	200 Day Milk (kg)	200 Growth (kg)	400 Growth (kg)	Muscle Depth (mm)	Fat Depth (mm)	Beef Value

100 day wt	200 day wt	300 day wt	400 day wt	500 day wt	Scanned
118	253	378	556	710	Yes

Bull B

Analysis Date 24/10/2008	Calving Value	200 Day Milk (kg)	200 Growth (kg)	400 Growth (kg)	Muscle Depth (mm)	Fat Depth (mm)	Beef Value
EBV	LM4C	-5	30	52	2.0	0.3	LM25

Index	120	86	124	125	107	76	116

100 day wt	200 day wt	300 day wt	400 day wt	500 day wt	Scanned
126	256	385	568	755	Yes

- Each bull has been fully weight recorded (i.e. they both have a complete set of 100-day adjusted weights), scanned (the box says 'Yes') and possesses satisfactory accuracy figures, given their age.

- Both bulls have EBVs for growth and carcase traits that are above the breed average, but in several ways their characteristics differ:

  - Bull A has a higher Muscle Depth EBV
  - Bull B has the highest EBVs for growth rate (weight) EBVs
  - Bull A has a 200-Day Milk EBV in the Top10% of the breed
  - Bull B has a Calving Value in the Top 10% of the breed

Bull A would the most suitable out of the two for a unit where conformation takes high priority. The high 200-Day Milk Weight EBV would also make it suitable for herds where female replacements are retained for breeding.

The high Calving Value of Bull B indicates that it would be more suitable for mating to heifers. It could also be used in herds where a priority is to improve growth.

Remember

When trying to establish just how much influence a bull will pass on to his progeny it is important to remember to halve the value of the EBV, since the other half of a calf's genes comes from the cow.

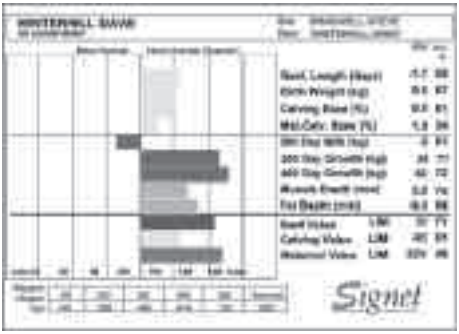
For example, a bull with a 400-Day Growth (weight) EBV of +62 is estimated to have the genetic potential to be 62kg heavier at 400 days of age compared to a bull with an EBV of 0.

Based on their sire's genetics, his calves would be expected to be 31kg heavier at that age when compared to calves by a bull with an EBV of 0, since they only inherit half of their growth genes from their sire (the other half coming from their dam).

8. UNDERSTANDING SALE CARDS AND CATALOGUES

Estimated Breeding Values on Sale Cards

EBVs and Indexes are produced on sale cards as shown below:



Bars that lie to the right of the central line indicate the EBV/Index is above breed average (and the further it is to the right, the higher above breed average it is). Similarly, bars to the left of the central line indicate the EBV/Index is below breed average (and the further to the left it is, the further below average it is).

In sale catalogues, the same figures are produced in table format similar to the examples of Bull A and Bull B above. The EBV Index (bottom line) will quickly indicate where values lie in relation to the breed average. The Breed Benchmark printed in the front pages of the catalogue will allow further refinement of this.

9. EBV and PEDIGREE INFORMATION JUST A CLICK AWAY

EBV and pedigree information on all Limousin cattle are just a few internet clicks away…

Step 1: Click the 'Basco Online Herd Book' button on the Limousin Society homepage (www.limousin.co.uk)

Step 2: In the 'All Breeds Quick Search' box type the name or ear number of the animal you are interested in or click on the 'Breeder Search' button to look at all animals belonging to or bred by a particular breeder.

The site will then tell you the animal's owner/breeder details, its EBVs, its pedigree and list its progeny with full links to all of their information.
